Altus High School

Altus, Oklahoma

Volume 36

Published by the

Bulldog Staff

Oklahoma requires 18 units for high school graduation. Altus High offers a choice of 64. In the process of selection every student is able to find those subjects and activities which will be of greatest value, hopefully, in his future plans. Computer science, badminton, advanced physiology, welding, modern languages, auto mechanics, and carpentry, clerical practice, drama, modern math, art, wrestling and commercial sewing, the list goes on and on. It's all a part of today's multi-faceted educational program, preparation for eras ahead which may require multi-choices and frequent adjustments in outlook and occupation.

TEMPERATURES of 100-plus failed to daunt the first-of-the-year spirit of Dan Iden, junior, and Mike Jackson, sophomore.

JUBILANT Ann Abernethy, senior, arrives on Bulldog Lane the morning after her selection as Junior Miss of Oklahoma. Ann typifies the many facets of Altus High School education.

NOW PHILOSOPHY

Altus High School has varied facets

Famed for its educational services to students, its district, state and nation, Altus High School has numerous facets. Among these is its cafeteria, reputed to be the nation's most beautiful. Like other structures on the 50-acre park-like campus, its exterior reveals little of the activities within its walls.

APPROXIMATELY 600 students lunch here each each week day, and more than 10,000 persons attended special events in this building during the year.

VOCATIONAL COURSES

Job preparation begins in these high school classes

More than a quarter-century ago Altus offered its first vocational course, agriculture. Ten years ago Distributive Education was added and five years later computer programming here set a record for the nation. In 1966 vocational carpentry and vocational auto mechanics offered additional opportunities for boys, and now commercial sewing and vocational child care offer skill training for girls. All are Federally aided.

CHILD CARE, newest vocational course, is taught at the Learning Center. Four years olds, Wayne West and Sonja Small assemble a puzzle under watchful eyes of Ruth Henson, Sharon Stephens, Donna Mayrhofer, and Mrs. Robert Bolton.

VOCATIONAL CARPENTRY booth at County Fair was sponsored by Altus Home Builders. Kenny Bates shows slides while young spectator watches explains the model home (center) which VICA students will build full size this year.

ON JOB TRAINING is part of Distributive Education program. David Beane checks merchandise supply for customer.

PREPARATION for job opportunities with industry, retail fashion world, as custom dress makers, and designers awaits girls who complete Commercial Sewing. Mrs. Del Ray Thomas instructs Fredricka Williams and Diane Russell on the proper procedures of using commercial machines.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA sponsored the Children's Barnyard of young animals at the Jackson County Fair. Rex Cole, chapter president explains FFA program to a young fair visitor and men of the 4th Mobile Communications Unit at Altus Air Force Base who furnished and erected the shelter tent.

OVERHAUL of the Activity Bus engine by Vocational Auto Mechanics students, Duane Lollis and Bobby Cullins, is supervised by Mr. Ray Vinyard, instructor. Advanced VAM students have skills capable of doing intricate motor and electrical system repairs.

CURRICULUM

Course offerings planned to suit varied futures

Approximately sixty different courses are offered for students including those courses needed for college preparation at any university in the nation. College level courses in some fields make advanced standing possible for qualified students.

AS BUSINESS becomes more computerized, DATA Processing becomes essential. Chipper Morgan, Johnnie Post, and Wayne Schmedt practice first year work on the RCA-301.

EXERCISING can be fun is one of the basic concepts of physical education. Soccer and softball are the fun way to build muscle coordination.

ADVANCED COURSE emphasizes laboratory experience. Zoology students study microscopic protozoa.

FIRST PRACTICE in short hand symbol writing requires full time concentration of Carol Bates and Sybil Armstead

AMERICAN HISTORY is brought to life for members of Mrs Robert Clayton's section where posters for and against presidential candidates were made by students Barbara Ferrell's was among those displayed.

RAPT ATTENTION is given a lesson in grammar by use of overhead transparencies by Mrs. Dorothy Wells

SITTING at adjoining drawing board, Arthur Valdez explains mechanical drawing instructions in Spanish to Charles Smith of Mexico City who only speaks Spanish

Scholarship, citizenship highlights honor awards

When Merit Semi-Finalists and Merit Commendation Winners are announced each year at least half of the AHS honorees have transferred to another high school with their Air Force fathers. This year one Merit Semi-Finalist, and three commendation awardees, are at other schools. In addition to those placing in the top one and two percent of the nation, approximately 10 percent more of the Class of 1969 placed in the top five percent scholastically.

At Girls State and Girls Nation AHS students not only gained the top office, but numerous lesser ones, and Boys State delegates achieved offices also. Altus FFA, winning top awards annually, came through again this year at both Tulsa and Oklahoma City State Fairs

BOYS STATE Delegates discuss experiences. They are Ronny Babione, Rusty Chapman, Mark Snell, and Scott Whiteside

NATIONAL MERIT semifinalists take a test to determine finalists ratings. Principal Jerry Doyle informs Nancy Craven of her semifinalist status

GIRLS STATE was held at Central State College. AHS delegates are Jan Mahan, Kay Heidebrecht, Jill Click, and Renee McMahan

SECOND PLACE winner at Tulsa State Fair in farm equipment was Dick Haas. He entered combine trailer in foreground.

ELECTED GOVERNOR of Oklahoma Girls State, Jill Click, was a delegate to Girls Nation. In Washington she interviewed Oklahoma Congressman Jim Smith at the capitol.

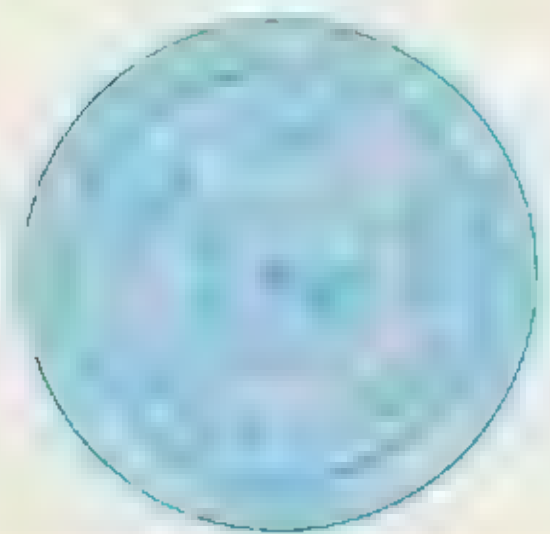

COMMENDATION winners in the National Merit Test each receive a certificate of merit. Mr. Adrian Rankin, counselor, presents awards to Scott Whiteside, Renee McMahan, and Thurma Jo Bryce. They ranked in the top two percent of the nation.

SUMMER ART SEMINAR students choose Saturday afternoon tranquility to sketch favorite nothings of the school at their classroom building

CREATIVE ARTS

Achievement requires originality, talent and work

For many students high school is their first opportunity to express individual talents. Some do it with paint brushes, a typewriter or camera, others with songs, dances, and musical instruments. It all adds up to high school memories for everyone, and to vocational choices for participants who find creative expression rewarding and enjoyable.

SCRIPT FOR the next assembly is studied by Mike Stlicher and Mrs. Earl Herron, speech teacher. Marilyn Smith displays a poster to be used for a mock campaign slogan

INDIVIDUAL ATTENTION by Mr. Kenneth Cox, vocal music director helps develop voice quality. As a result Altus Varsity Choir became honor choir for A-1 State Chorus

JOURNALISM STUDENTS Pam Jones, Rancy Muse and Kathy Lott select negatives for quality in preparation for coverage of President Johnson's visit

ART students Christy Wright and Benny Sherman sketch portions of backdrop for all school production on "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

THAT ALTUS BAND returns to bleachers after a half-time show that brought a standing ovation from spectators

BULLDOG BOOSTERS were tried in a mock trial for lack of pep. Charge was not guilty and first pep assembly proceeded. Assemblies are produced with the cooperation of drama, vocal music, art and band departments

ALTUS JUNIOR COLLEGE

Higher education at home reality for AHS graduates

MODERN architecture building will house chemistry, modern language and electronic office machines

Since its founding forty-three years ago, thousands of students have begun preparation for careers in medicine, education, agriculture, and scores of other professions at Altus Junior College. Summer courses attract high school graduates from two states and six counties. By fall 1969 the AJC campus will have four buildings of contemporary architecture, all completely air conditioned. These include administration, library, vocational, and laboratory classrooms

QUICK delivery of the building and the arrival of these AHS graduates will be a reality. Shirley, the secretary, and Mary, the president, Gary, the president, Gaylon Jackson, the president, and Marty McAnallen, the secretary.

LABORATORY BUILDING to be near completion will house chemistry, modern language and electronic office machines

Students participate in school, community affairs

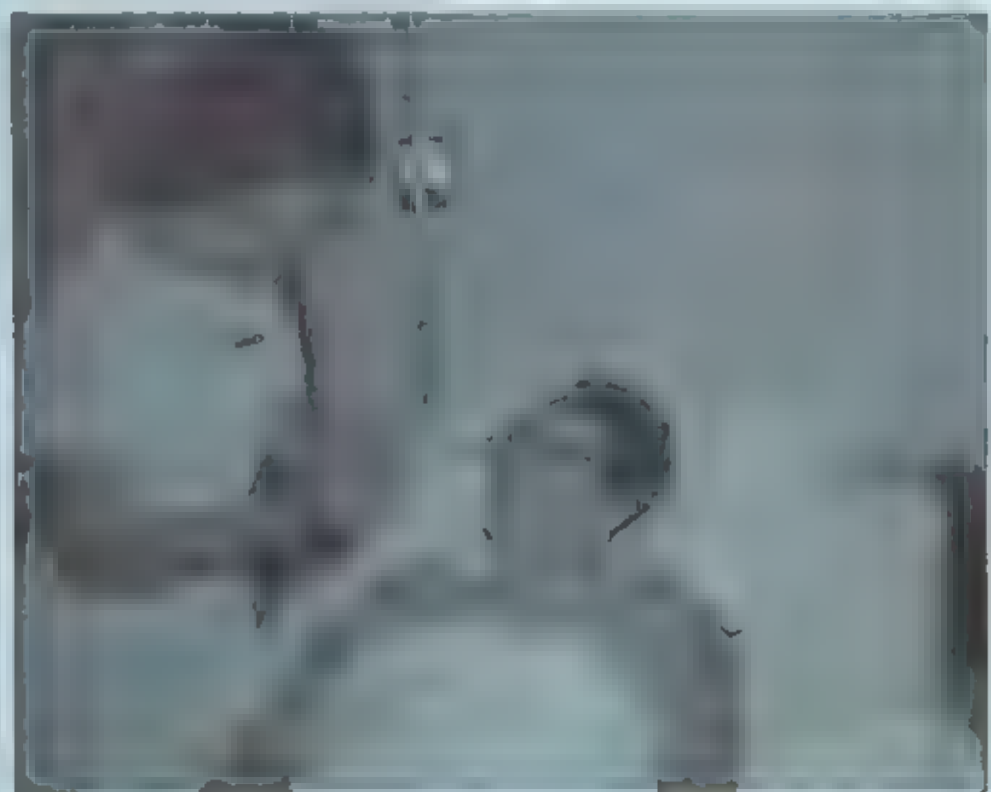

Preparation for active roles as interested citizens begins in school, and Altus students are encouraged to enter activities. All clubs are open to any student who meets qualifications such as Spanish, French or Latin, Journalism, Biology, Engineering, Art, the vocational departments, Music, and Pep Club.

Class elections provide early opportunities each year for both new arrivals and native students to get acquainted, and work together.

CHANGING CAMPUS

Park-like landscaping background for buildings

Summer, fall, winter and spring bring climatic changes to the 50-acre AHS campus, but the real campus, that of more than 900 persons, changes with each hour. Because the collegiate style grounds are spacious, students have favorite spots where they meet friends before and after school, or during the hurried moments between class changes. To each, the area has special and personal memories.

PATIO AREA is first stop for hundreds each morning to catch up on what was seen and done since the last bell of yesterday

HOW TO change classes and arrive on time is an art AHS students learn long before they go to college

SPECIAL PURPOSE Music Education, housing vocal music and band, and Vocational Education housing agriculture, shop, vocational carpentry and vocational auto mechanics face across Bulldog Lane.

RAIN, SNOW, SUN are all a part of the AHS campus year. FIRST ASSEMBLY of the term caught students unprepared for rain and they run for cover as they emerge from the auditorium clutching new handbooks. SNOW BANKS drifted around concrete benches creating rare winter effect between main building and cafeteria.

MAINTENANCE chief Mr. Alfred Tidwell operates the power mower to get front lawn in perfect condition before enrollment.

ACTIVITIES

Student memorials add beauty, usefulness

For more than three decades Altus Senior Classes have dedicated their class funds to a memorial for their school. Among these are campus landscaping, sidewalks, patios, campus benches, stage lights, chandeliers, mosaics, murals, and inter-communication systems.

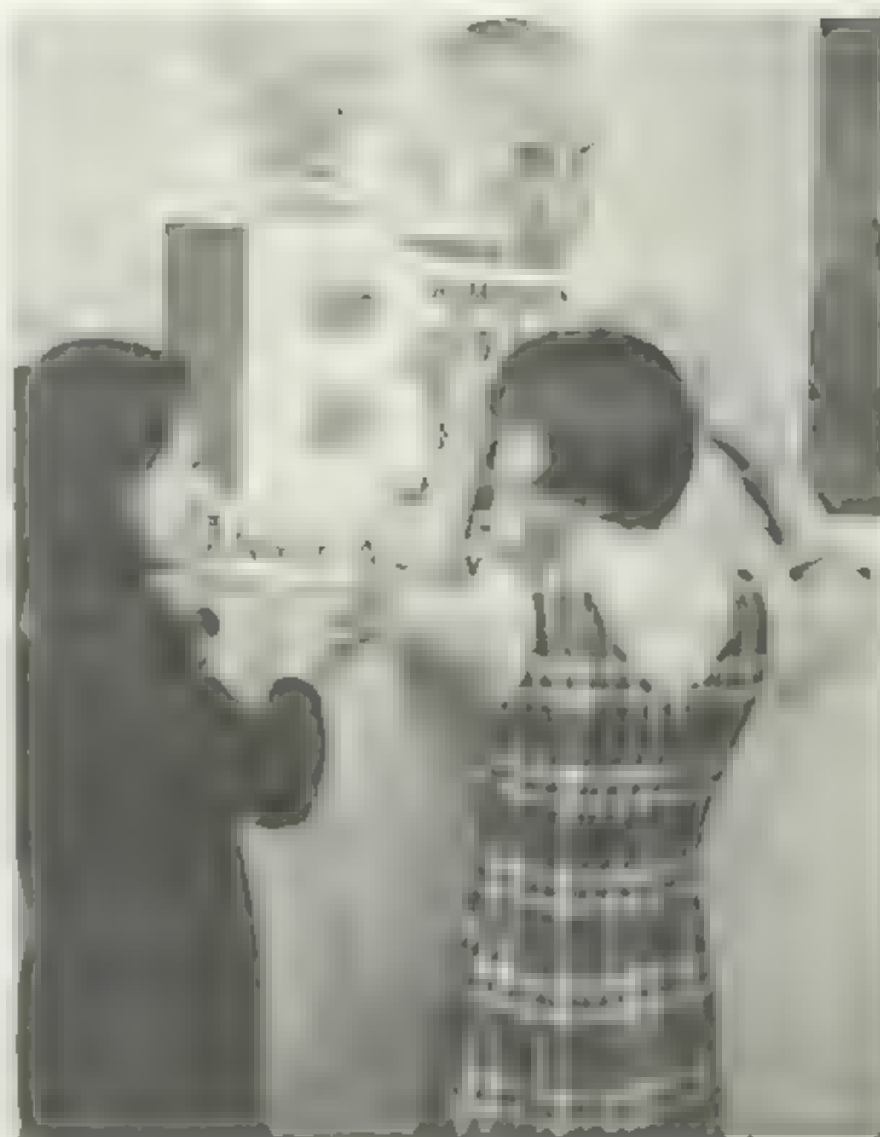

PUTNAM WEST MEMORIAL, the Bulletin Board gift of Class of 1968 is consulted by David Schultz, senior and Scott Brantley, sophomore. CLASS OF 1969 officers, Scott Brantley, president, and David Schultz, secretary-treasurer, stand beneath the Venetian glass memorial of the Class of 1959 as they discuss 1969 suggestions.

Student interest high in general election, C-5A

Four years from now many high school seniors may be casting valid votes for the President of the United States. Teens could not vote at the polls this year, but were avid workers for the party of their choice anyway. With 40 percent of the student body dependents of Altus Air Force Base personnel, changeover from Strategic Air Command to Military Air Command has added significance, and arrival of first C-5A crews for training in April made the world's largest plane a frequent topic of discussion. Both the elections and new mission for AAFB will bring changes of major degree for school and community.

FRIENDLY RIVALS. Jeanne Ann Freeman left a young Republican, and Lynnette Stowe, a Democratic Teen, compare campaign materials. Jeanne Ann's senatorial candidate won and Lynnette's congressional candidate

SPECIAL GUESTS of Col William Smith, commander of Altus Air Force Base were COLAR newspaper editor H. L. Buchanan and Renee M. M... The working press including newspaper, television, radio and magazines, were briefed at noon.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

Work sessions for Altus High teachers included issuance of materials needed before first class meetings of the term. Shirt-sleeved, Mr. Jerry Doyle, principal, spent summer hours planning final details.

Superintendent, board members guide progress

Altus High School has established a national reputation for the accomplishments of its graduates in computer science, mathematics, biochemistry, and a variety of fine arts and liberal arts fields. Long range planning, and constant research in educational needs of the future by Mr. Clifford Peterson, superintendent, and the Board of Education, has made this progress possible. These men are well aware that the Class of 1981 is in first grade classrooms this year. Tomorrow's future must be decided today.

TELEGRAM of confirmation of a new Title II allocation under the Elementary and Secondary Act by Mr. Clifford Peterson, superintendent.

Elected to five year terms, with one member elected each year, Board of Education members serve without pay. Meetings are held at least once monthly, and may last far into the night when numerous matters are to be discussed.

All members of Altus Schools Board of Education are college educated, and are successful business and professional men. They contribute their talents and time to helping further the educational opportunities of the district for students today and in the future.

SELDOM SEEN by high school students, these two school executives, Mrs. Walter Cross and Mr. Bailey Snow, spend hours each day at the Board of Education building on matters concerning all students. These include activity accounts, budget allocations, transportation, textbooks and equipment.

Principal's office school information, activity nucleus

FINAL DECISIONS are left to Mr. Jerry Doyle, principal. Keeping abreast of current educational policies, incoming students, administrative rulings, and campus activities are musts for this position. His own cooperation with The Bulldog staff is an example of his many duties.

"Ask Mr. Doyle", "Mrs. Kiker will know", "Have you asked Mr. Starr?", may be heard in almost any classroom at any hour of any day. Add to this the scores of questions which must be asked the guidance office, and the myriad tasks which are performed by the personnel in the principals office. It all adds up to the details handled in a single day in aiding almost 900 students gain a beneficial education.

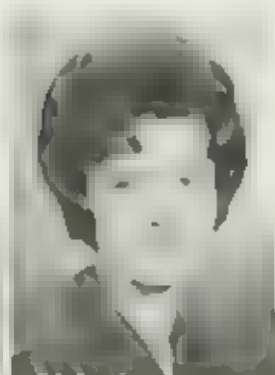

Much of the smoothness which characterizes this office can be attributed to the unruffled attitude of Mr. Jerry Doyle, who completes his second year as AHS principal this May. His philosophical "Let's visit about this," solves problems both for faculty and student body.

ATHLETIC SCHEDULES for all teams and absent slips consume much of the time of Mr. Bill Starr, athletic and attendance director.

RECORDS of all business transactions, student transfers, and periodic grades are kept by Mrs. Ersa Kiker, school secretary, and Mrs. Bud Spruiell, educational secretary

RECENTLY PURCHASED electric mimeographing machine is operated by teacher's aide Mrs. Robert Killebrew

MR. W. C. DAVIS has M.A. and M.S. from the University of Oklahoma. MRS. ERSA KIKER is a graduate of Groves Barnhart Business College, Madison, Wisconsin. MRS. ROBERT KILLEBREW attended Cameron State College, Lawton. MR. ADRIAN RANKIN, holds an M.A. from Oklahoma State University. MRS. BUD SPRUIELL attended Southwest Teachers College, San Marcos, Texas. MR. BILL STARR holds an M.S. from Oklahoma University.

STUDENTS' LIVES are guided by full-time counselor Mr. Adrian Rankin. Seniors and sophomores are Mr. Rankin's main concerns.

JUNIORS' COUNSELOR, Mr. W. C. Davis, is also administrator of Adult Education at Altus Schools Learning Center. Mr. Davis' day is divided between his two offices.

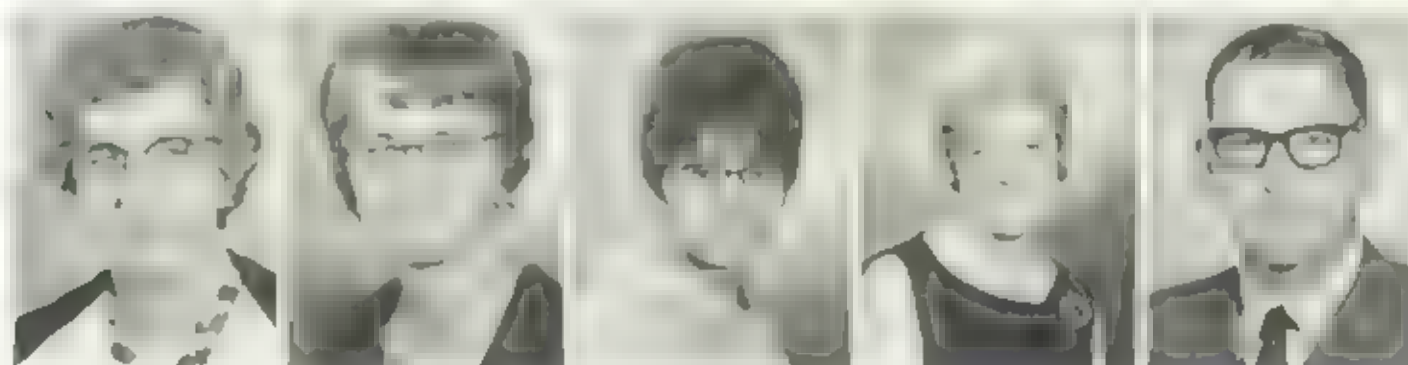

Space age machines aid in learning clerical skills

TABULATOR settings are explained by Miss Glade Clemons to her Typing I class.

HOT LINE to Oklahoma City Civil Defense Center is demonstrated by Mrs. J. C. Hicks to Mrs. Willie Mackey when she visits the DATA Processing Lab

MISS GLADE CLEMONS, M.B.A., attended Central State College West Texas State and OU. She teaches Business English and Typing I.
MRS. J. C. HICKS, M.S., attended Southwestern State and received her master's in business at OU. Mrs. Hicks teaches computer related math and data processing.
MRS. WILLIE MACKEY, B.S., attended Langston University and Northeastern State College. She teaches five sections of Typing I.
MRS. N. H. WILLIAMS, B.S., attended Cameron Junior College and Central State College. She teaches Typing II, shorthand and world history.
MR. NICK WOLFE, M.A., attended OU and Southwestern State College. Mr. Wolfe teaches bookkeeping, Business Math, clerical practice and geography.

Business education is constantly expanding. New laboratory facilities in calculating machines and dictating machines are used by students daily. Most recent addition to this department is a $92,000 high speed tape recorder capable of storing complete biographical data on every student who has ever attended Altus Public Schools. Skills learned in these courses provide vocational opportunities immediately upon graduation. Students in state colleges and universities are able to earn $100 a week while completing their college curriculum.

New course supplements Driver Education semester

Among the new courses added to Altus High School's curriculum is Health and Safety, a semester course. Enrollees in Health and Safety are taught basic fundamentals of human anatomy, first aid, and emergency measures.

Majority of students taking Driver's Education, a semester course, elect to enroll in Health and Safety to complete the school term. Driver's Education students learn proper driving techniques and laws governing highways and roads. Altus High has four Driver's Education cars on the move four hours a day every school day.

If a student becomes ill during school, a school nurse is on hand to prescribe treatment and if necessary to transport him to a doctor. Nurses also administer polio immunization and other inoculations to ward off an epidemic.

FOOTBALL SAFETY EQUIPMENT being given to Johnny Hill is inspected by Coach Bob Wenk before the State Playoff.

MR. GARY COFFEY, M.T., attended Southwestern State College, Weatherford. He teaches Driver's Education and coaches girls' basketball. MRS. JOHN ELLIOTT, B.S. in physical education, attended Oklahoma State University. She teaches girls' physical education at AHS. MR. JIM CROMARTIS, B.S. attended the University of New Mexico. He teaches sociology and is assistant football coach. He will be 1969 head football coach. MRS. WALTER McANALLAN, R.N., graduate of Southern Methodist School of Nursing, Dallas, joined the AHS staff in 1966 as head of the health service. MR. ROBERT WENK, B.S., a graduate of the University of New Mexico. He teaches Driver's Education and is head football coach. He also coaches track. MR. ART YOUNG, M.E.D. has attended AJC, OBU, and OU. He teaches Driver's Education and coaches the AHS golf team.

Vocal music, art, band provide cultural enrichment

To the student who is interested in Fine Arts, Altus High offers a full curriculum in art and in vocal and instrumental music. Because of its outstanding facilities Altus was once again selected to host regional band contests. Through "top rate" entertaining and exhibits, art and vocal music departments have infested both school and community with the highly contagious bug known as "art appreciation."

Mr. JEFF DOUGHTEN, band director, auditions bass player, Ken Ward, on memory test for regional marching contest

MR. KENNETH COX, M.A., was graduated from Indiana University and North Texas State University. He teaches vocal music and is a nationally known specialist in the changing voice. MRS. MONICA KAY CRUM, B.S., in education, attended Texas State University at Normal and has been teaching Art I at AHS. MR. JEFF DOUGHTEN, M.T., attended West Texas State University and Southwestern State College. He is head band director and teaches music theory and stageband. MR. LARRY A. HARRIS, M.T. and B.M.E., attended West Texas State University and Southwestern State College. He is vocal and band director at AHS. MRS. RICHARD MAFFRY, B.S., attended Northeast Missouri State Teachers College. She teaches Art I, Art II, and Art III. MR. DOIS L. PACE, received his masters from Southwestern State College and also attended West Texas University. He is assistant band director at AHS.

SUGGESTIONS ON DESIGN are given art students, Pat Dodson and Johnnie Robinson, by Mrs. Richard Maffry

Language facilities lead to world-wide opportunities

"Functional knowledge of the language" is the aim of language instruction at A.H.S. Faculty members who study and visit in foreign lands, modern electronic laboratories, student clubs, and the school's migrant education facilities offer out-of-text-book experiences which prepare students for job openings, travel abroad, college admission, and, in the case of Latin, for background knowledge necessary for entering study in certain scientific fields. Altus High's language students consistently place high on national tests and in district and state competition with other schools, and in inter-club activity events.

MRS. DALE CULVER, M.Ed., attended OU and the University of Grenoble, France. She teaches Latin and French and sponsors these language clubs. MRS. D. M. EWING, M.A., attended OU, UCLA, and Interamerican University, Saltillo, Mexico. She teaches Spanish I and is one of the Spanish Club sponsors. MRS. BOB ROOKER, M.A., attended OSU, Ok., and is a graduate of the Interamerican University. She teaches Spanish II and is the other Spanish Club sponsor.

INDIVIDUAL attention on verb conjugation aids Barbara Ferrell in Mrs. Culver's French II class

Effective communication leads to informed world

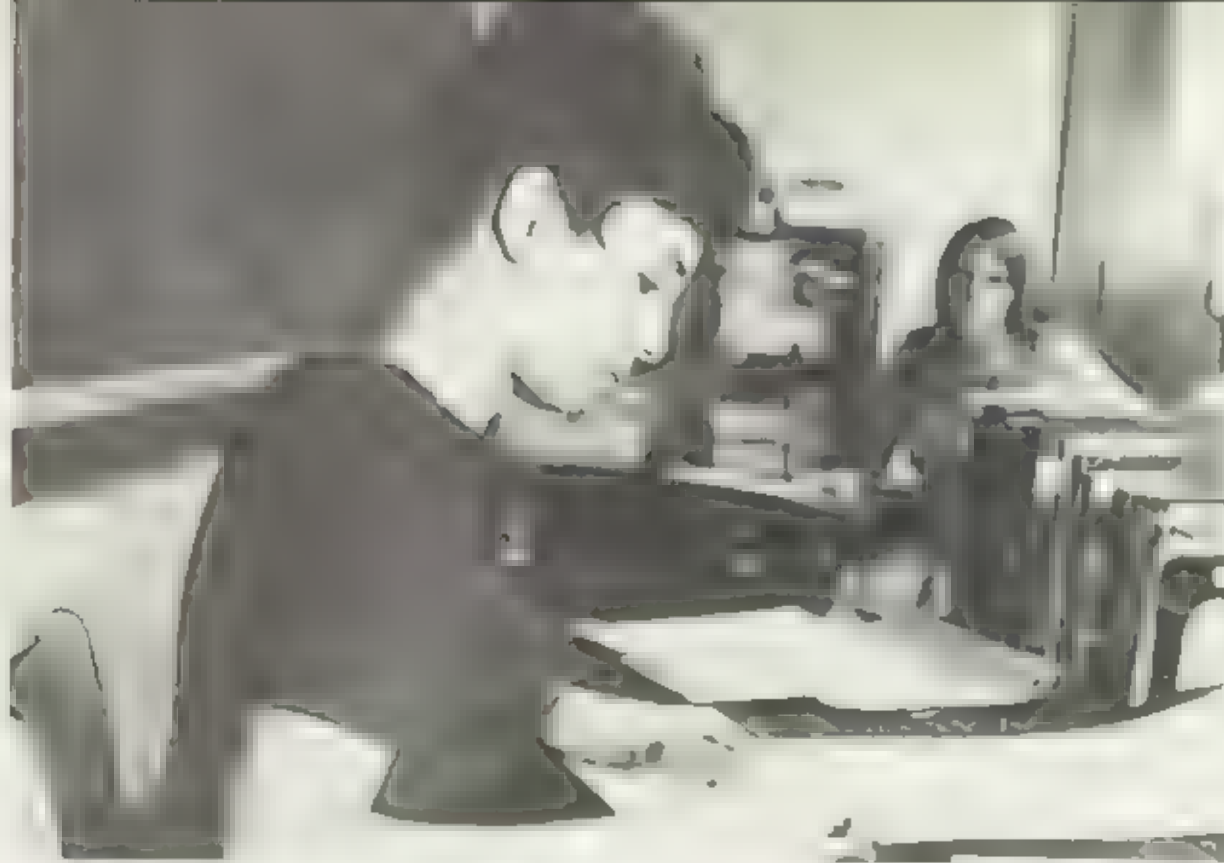

MRS. BILL BRINKMAN, B.A., attended Southwestern State College at Weatherford. She teaches English III and is a junior class sponsor. MISS BESSIE BROGAN, M.A. in English attended OCU, OU, and Texas Women's University. She is high school principal. MRS. WELDON FERRIS, M.A., attended OU, OCLA, and OSU. She teaches journalism, sponsors the school newspaper and yearbook and directs the school public relations. MRS. PAUL FLIPPIN, B.A., attended OU, SWSC, and CU. She teaches English IV, sponsors pep club and the junior class and directs plays. MRS. EARL HERRON, B.A. attended Oklahoma College of Liberal Arts and OU. She teaches Speech I and II and sponsors the senior class. MR. JOHN KNIGHT, B.A. graduated from SWSC. He teaches English II and is a night class English teacher at AJC.

Student proficiency in both oral and written communication is the aim of language arts instruction at Altus High. English usage, as well as classical and modern literature, is studied by all students. Additional experiences in using the proper methods of communication are provided for those who elect to study journalism, speech, and/or dramatics. Journalism students publish the monthly newspaper. Speech enrollees prepare their own materials and gain a wide variety of experiences in presenting them to audiences. Those interested in dramatics participate in school assemblies, class plays, and in the all-school production. Through a combination of these experiences pupils are able to meet the challenge of communicating successfully in both their in-school and out-of-school world.

LINGUISTIC sentence structure is taught by English II instructor, Mr. John Knight.

Three new courses added to increased curriculum

Faculty members of the math and science departments were among the first in the nation to be recognized as National Defense Education Scholars. They have consistently attended both summer and year-long institutes sponsored by the National Science Foundation. These departments offer courses in Modern Math, which includes Algebra I, Algebra II, Trigonometry, Solid Geometry, and Analytics, Bond Chemistry, BSCS Biology, Modern Physics and Computer Science.

Altus High School was one of the first high schools to make available to its students modern math courses. Six years ago a computer math course was created. This year High School Arithmetic, Earth Science, and Biology II, which includes zoology and botany, were added. Another recent development is the addition of a unified modern math curriculum which will allow first grade students to begin a course of study and continue it through their sophomore year in junior college.

MR. BUEL GARVIN, MEd., attended Texas Christian and OSU. He teaches biology, zoology, and sponsors a biology club. MR. ARTHUR JANTZ, Masters from SWSC in natural sciences and biology. He teaches biology and sponsors a biology club. MR. R. J. LOCKHART, M.T., attended OU, New Mexico Military Institute and SWSC. He teaches Earth Science, Chem. I, and economics. MRS. R. J. LOCKHART, MEd., attended Carnegie Tech, Arizona University, OU, and SWSC. She teaches chemistry and sponsors the senior class and JETS.

KENNETH HOLT, B.S., attended Altus Junior College, Oklahoma University, and Southwestern State. She teaches Algebra II, trigonometry, and analytics. MR. DENNIS NORMAN, M.S., attended SWSC, OU, and OSU. He teaches Algebra II and geometry. MR. CORTIS MARTIN, B.A., attended SWSC, OU, OSU, and Midshipman's School at Notre Dame University. He teaches plane geometry.

MR. DAVID BROWN, B.S., Southeastern State College, teaches American history and world history and is assistant football coach. MRS. ROBERT CLAYTON, B.A., attended Nyack College and Asbury College in New York. She teaches American history. MR. ANTON EDMONSON, M.Ed., studied at Cameron, SWSC, and Western State College at Gunnison, Colorado. He teaches world history. MR. CLESTER HARRINGTON, B.S., is a Tulsa University Alumnus with majors in social studies and physical education. He teaches American History and coaches basketball. MR. BOB HART, B.S., graduate of Southwestern State teaches world history, health and safety, and is assistant football coach. MARK McCracken, B.S., Oklahoma State University, teaches history and is the wrestling coach. MR. ROY RISNER, M.S. studied at Southwestern State, Texas Tech, and Southern California. He teaches psychology. MR. RAY TAHSEDA holds a master's degree from Southwestern State, and is continuing advanced graduate work at OU. He teaches American history, coaches baseball.

Fortunate students in class during eventful year

Quadrennial years provide an abundance of significant material for class discussion. Only once in every four years students are fortunate enough to be enrolled in Social Studies courses during such an opportune time. Election of a President furnished excellent debate topics. On a worldwide scope 1968 Olympics yielded information for discussions of both the new nations, as well as those with long histories. Knowledge of current events is vital for young adults soon to be participating citizens in today's rapidly advancing world.

CHAMPION COLLEGIATE WRESTLER, Mr. Mark McCracken, joined Altus High School's faculty this year upon his return from Viet Nam

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

Skills for immediate and future use are learned

MR. ROBERT KILLEBREW, M.S., teaches vocational carpentry. He attended Central State College and SWSC. MR. KENT METCALF, B.S., attended Oklahoma State and teaches vocational Agriculture I, II, and IV. He is FFA advisor. MR. PAUL ROACH, B.B.A. and M.S., attended New Mexico University and teaches distributive education and DECA. MR. WILLIAM SHAFER, M.S., attended OSU and teaches vocational Industrial and Projective Drawing. MR. RAY VINYARD, graduated from Oklahoma State University and operates his own auto mechanics business before becoming a full-time instructor.

CORRECT PROCEDURES for operating a projector are demonstrated by Mr. William Shafer to Michael Sendon. Such instruction enables students to run various machines in their classrooms.

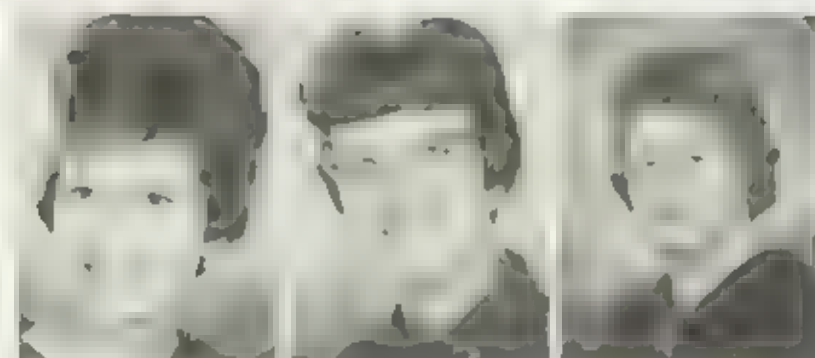

SURVEYING the plot for this year's building site, Mr. Robert Killebrew supervises the erection of a three-bedroom brick home on San Antonio by vocational carpentry students.

Vocational education at Altus High School began 26 years ago with the introduction of Vocational Agriculture. Hundreds of graduates who have taken this course have chosen for their lifetime vocation some phase of agriculture. In the spring of 1967, Vocational Carpentry and Vocational Auto Mechanics were added under the Vocational Education Act. Graduates of these courses are adequately equipped to enroll in engineering and architecture courses in technical schools, colleges, and universities, or to begin work immediately after finishing high school.

She teaches Home Economics I, II, and III and is a sophomore sponsor. MRS. DEL RAY THOMAS, B.A., graduated from Daniel Baker of Southwestern University. She teaches commercial sewing and sponsors FHA.

Vocational Education for the weaker sex was added to Altus High School's curriculum in 1967. This consisted of the introduction of Vocational Sewing. Enrollees in this course are able to sew their own clothing as well as that of members of their families or friends.

This year Vocational Child Care was added. Child Care students learn the fundamentals for employment as aides in nursery schools, convalescent homes, both for children and the aged, and as office aides for physicians.

Students utilize snack food bar, cafeteria privileges

When one stops to realize that the number of stomachs in the school equals the number of school population, then the work of the cafeteria and snack bar staff assumes greater proportions. Three times a day they face hordes of hungry youngsters and teachers. The food never runs short and hunger is not prerequisite for enjoying the varied menus planned far ahead.

ENTHUSIASTIC boys help themselves to extra milk and rolls as they go through the cafeteria line

SANDWICHES, COKES, AND SNACKS are constantly on the menu at the P.E. Snack Bar. Mrs. C. O. Thurman, manager, starts a fresh supply of home made sandwiches for the noon time rush.

FOOD SERVICE STAFF MEMBERS

Mrs. C. J. Doyle, Mrs. John Oakley, Mrs. Evian Carter, Mrs. Clyde Yates, Mrs. Glen Bell, and Mrs. Amos Leverett, prepare a well-balanced meal for high school students every morning of the year.

SERVICE STAFF

Maintenance facilities, buses are kept up to date

A school building is not impervious to wear. Its halls and rooms show signs of use, windows break, filing cabinets jam. Custodial staff members are entrusted with a task that never ends. Students in years to come will continue to reap the benefits of their efforts to maintain a well-kept school.

BUS DRIVING STAFF includes these Junior College students who must be alert both physically and mentally before they are assigned their routes. Drivers are Gary Bond, Doug Culp, Jimmy King, Gary Corhouer, Bill Adams, Ron Alexander, Jerry Reeves, John Dismore, Mike Simpson, and Darryl Cope. Mr. Pete Tidwell supervises bus maintenance.

THIS GROUP has the tedious job of maintaining top condition of grounds and buildings. FRONT ROW: Mr. Billy Jones, Mr. Joe Ray, Mr. Joe Black, Mr. Alfred Tidwell. BACK ROW: Mr. Bill Stayton, Mr. George Shanks, Mr. Gilmer Hull and Mr. Jess Dodson.

CLASSES

Summer-like fall weather was made to order for the Bulldog Lane pep rally preceding the Altus-Woodward game. Activity facets such as this unite all age groups.

SENIORS

Class officers discuss year's group activities

Leadership for the various organizations on the campus of Altus High School is provided by the upper classmen. Having participated in the various activities previously, seniors are usually considered best qualified to head these groups.

Two hundred sixty-seven seniors were enrolled at the beginning of the second semester, an all-time record for AHS. Few additions were expected during the latter part of the term, but some seniors did join the Class of 1969 during the final weeks as the big change-over got underway at Altus Air Force Base.

UTILIZING a moment between classes, senior officers talk over the possibility of using the patio area as the site for a spring class meeting. Shown are Mark [unclear] vice president, Scott Whiteside, president, and Jeanne Bennett, secretary-treasurer.

Teachers play large role in Junior Class activities

Cooperation and willingness to work are key attributes for junior class members, officers and sponsors. New fund raising projects seem to creep into every junior conversation. Money is needed for food, costumes, staging and orchestra for Junior-Senior Banquet and show and the prom. All in all it's a busy year. Kuder vocational tests, PSAT and the all important Merit test, in the spring, are week-end "diversions." Junior year is one of serious academic requirements. Most class members have full schedules of solid subjects, plus leading roles in extra-curricular activities

JUNIOR CLASS SPONSORS discuss money-raising projects for the year Mrs. Paul Flippin, Miss Glade Clemons, and Mrs. Bill Brinkman, listen to fund suggestions from Mr. Ray Tahade, Mr. Arthur Jantz and Mr. Herman Babb

ATHLETICS

Probably no facet of physical fitness brings more pleasure and relaxation to both participants and spectators than competitive sports. At Altus High these include team sports and individual competition for boys and girls.

Bulldogs upset powerful opponents in home games

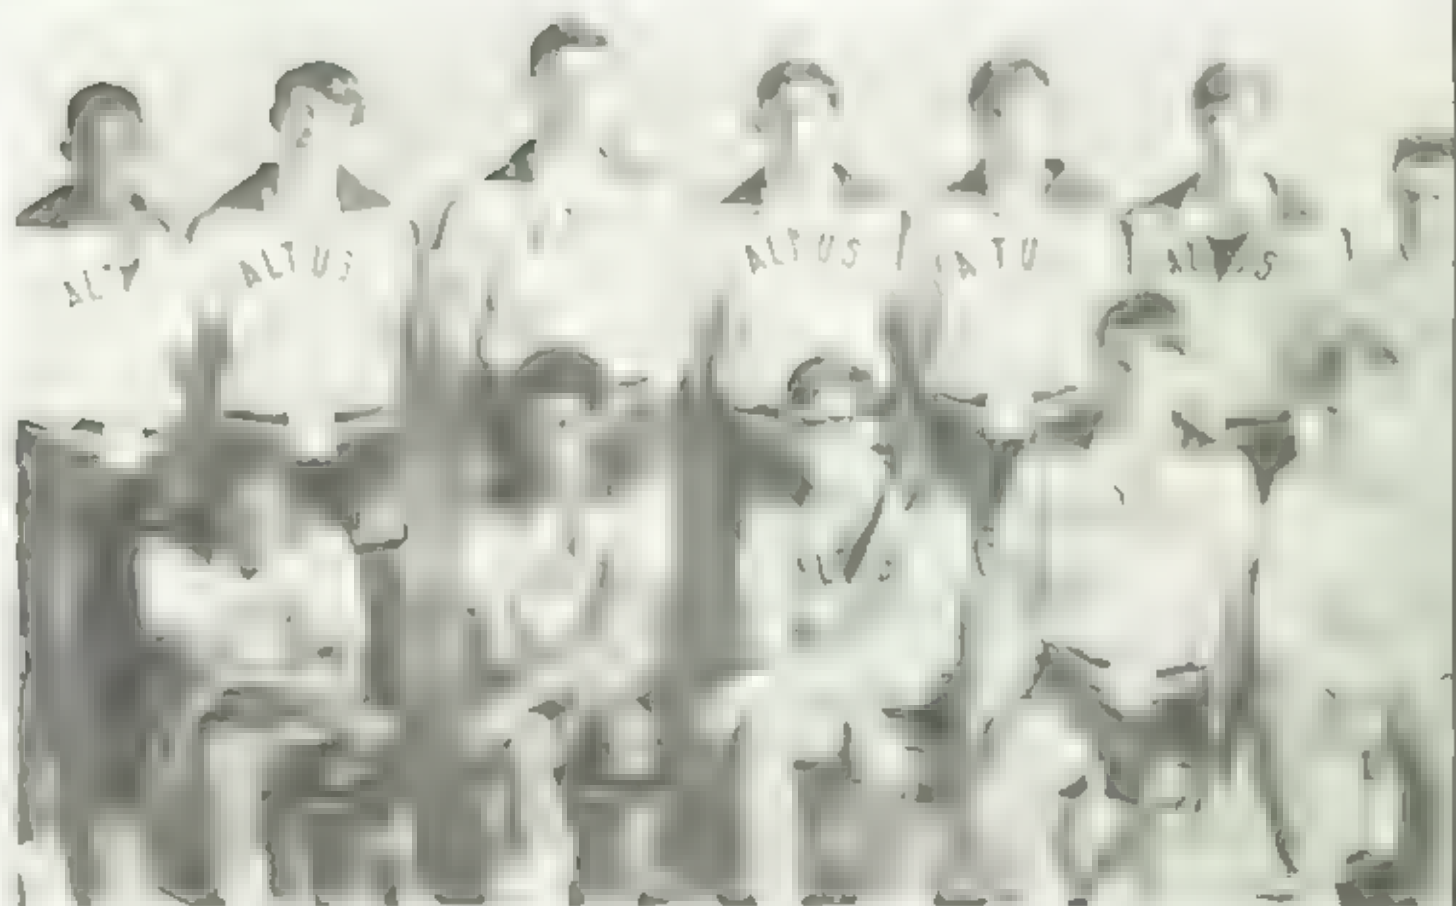

Under the direction of new head coach Clester Harrington, the Bulldog cagers make up for a lack of experience with constant practice and hard work. They consistently improved with each game. Individual players keep in top physical condition, learn the know-how of basketball, and obtain plenty of enjoyment by participating in this sport.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Lassie teamwork promotes friendship, cooperation

Competitive athletics, feminine style, at Altus High provides proof positive that outstanding athletes may also be typical co-eds in grooming and appearance. Top lettermen on the Lassie team are in the Bulldog yearbook as royalty, class favorites, and top scholars. It's this diversification of interest which characterizes all Altus High groups. Today's Lassies usually come up through grade school physical fitness classes and junior high basketball to varsity rank in high school.

Bulldogs win state play-off berth with Stillwater

Altus Bulldogs showed their determination this year. Because they lacked experience some fans thought the Bulldogs would not have a winning team. Early in the season winning had become a habit with the players. They emerged from a difficult 1-AA schedule with a 7-3 record. Bulldogs had a perfect conference record of 5-0. One of these was an impressive 34-8 win over arch rival El Reno. Another was a 45-0 win over Putnam City West, a new conference member. First blood was drawn in a 22-6 romp over Chickasha. Bulldogs continued their march to conference championship with an 18-12 victory over McGuinness, another new rival. In non-conference games Altus faced two teams, Clinton and Lawton who later became state champions, losing 0-27 and 0-35. Altus lost a close inter-state game with its oldest rival Vernon, Tex. 6-14. In other non-conference play Bulldogs posted wins over Elk City (14-12), Frederick (26-9), and Woodward (27-7).

Head Coach Bob Wenk, foreground, is flanked, from left, by Coaches Bob Hart, Jim Cromartie, David Brown and Gary Coffey. All are former high school and college varsity players, and demand near perfection in Bulldog drill plays. Player loyalty follows when coaches such as these are willing to invest extra hours beyond those on the practice field to help individual players achieve

Tough opponents prepare sophomores for 1-AA play

Dawgs, despite tough schedule, still remained winner with a 5-4 record. Games with Eisenhower sophomores and Vernon B proved to be tests of the Dawgs stamina. Future Bulldogs exhibited the spirit, enthusiasm, and sportsmanship admired by Bulldog fans. Sports writers believe sophomores promise thrilling games in seasons ahead.

BASIC physical therapy skills are a requirement for Bulldog trainers. Frequently, as early as 10 years of age, boys are planning their careers. Adult managers have spent a great deal of time and money to develop the prestige. This year's staff includes Steve Fraser, Alan Chick, Danny Mills, James Seward, and Billy LaRue.

ORGANIZATIONS

More than a half-million spectators annually make a special effort to see That Altus Band in shows and parades. Traditionally, the band precedes Santa Claus as the big moment of the community Christmas parade. This year Vocational Carpentry students built Old Santa's sled (left background) and Distributive Education students entered a business float. It's all a part of today's multi-faceted education.

ALLIED ARTS

Students make varied canvas subject choices

Art students study all phases of sketching, drawing and painting. They work with numerous mediums including pastels, charcoal, tempera, water color and oils. Allied Arts has sponsored Outdoor Art Show in the City Park and an All-School American Education Week Art Exhibition down town. Each year members produce backdrops and special effects for the all-school production. Instructors encourage experimentation in modern art and techniques.

ADVICE ON placement of objects for a still life is sought by Susan Stephens. Linda Jones, in background completes an oil.

VARSITY CHOIR

Spectacular events become routine for choir members

BECOMING ACQUAINTED with the new equipment are Varsity Choir officers and council members, Ann Abernethy, secretary; Mark Cotney, junior representative; Mike St. Cher, vice president; Rusty Chapman, president; Ben Bob Mahan, sophomore representative; and Marvin Hyde, senior representative. Purchase price $1875 included turntable and recorder shared by vocal and instrumental department's two speakers and two microphones for each department.

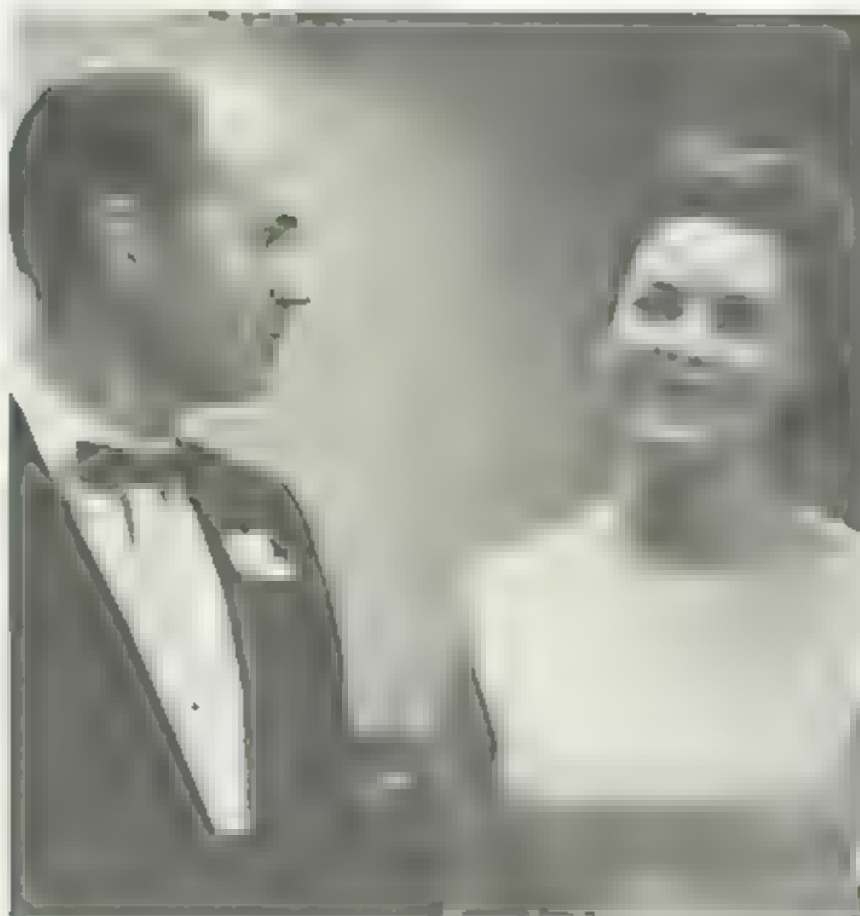

HARD WORK is required to gain admission to Varsity Choir and to participate in performances requires even more. Members rehearse every school day singing parts over and over again until they reach a high degree of quality.

Top Six national rating given 1969 marching unit

Ninety-five bands entered the Disneyland Marching Contest and That Altus Band, competing for the first time, placed sixth in the nation. It was one of a series of honors, including superior rating and highest praise from judges in regional marching contest held here, standing ovations from football fans at end of half-time spectaculars, and host role for the regional concert contest this spring. At Christmas they led Santa's parade, and in the fall were chosen instead of a military band for Col. Van Haggard's retirement ceremonies. It was an event filled year, with band shows at all home games and all but two out-of-town ones.

ALL-SCHOOL PRODUCTION

“Unsinkable Molly Brown” continues hit tradition

Curtain call brought standing ovations after performances of “Unsinkable Molly Brown,” December 7, 8, and 9. Vocational carpentry constructed furniture and flats. Commercial sewing covered the flats with canvas. Art classes chalked background scenery. Speech students were make-up artists and filled the majority of speaking roles. Photo, broadcast, news, ad journalism studied

Going offset is the major format and appearance change in both AHS Collar and Altus Times-Democrat during the term. Interviewing, copy writing, making up the Collar, headline writing all are part of producing a newspaper. Financial writing, including personal stock market analysis, Air Force briefing sessions such as those on C-5A publicity, field trips to publishing and market centers, the courts and other branches of state and local government are additional portions of the course. As Alpha Chapter of Future Journalists of America in the U.S., Altus journalism students exchange papers with other schools throughout the nation

Membership on Bulldog yearbook staff begins for three at the sophomore year as apprentices recommended by their junior high schools. Each year the staff is enlarged with additional upper classmen. Senior staff members are veterans in planning layouts, picture appointments and Bulldog content. Actual work on each Bulldog begins the previous March continuing throughout the summer. Bulldog staff attempts live coverage of every major event. As a result approximately 95 percent of the student body subscribes each year.

Acting, directing, make-up, assemblies 1969 agenda

MAKE-UP ARTISTS for All-School Production were provided by Speech classes. Sammie Stauffer who already has been through the whisker line now receives accent marks from Angelita Everett, Speech I student Poise, confidence, and self-reliance are traits emphasized in speech classes. First year students receive topic assignments. They must develop an original idea, transfer it to paper, and transmit it vocally before an audience of their peers. By midterm most students have such basics as gestures, standing position, and body twitches under control and poised speakers begin to emerge.

Second year students put their previous year's work into practice. One main project this year was "Cinderella" performed by Washington Elementary sixth graders. This small-scale musical was directed by Speech II, who had all production headaches to contend with, such as script, stage directions, choreography, music, costumes, and sets. Performance night was a success before a standing-room-only audience.

HALF OF BEING A good speaker is being a good listener. Ninety percent of speech students' class time is spent as listeners. Practicing this phase of forensics are Paula Patter son and Gayle Adams as Johnny Hill delivers an entertaining speech

SEEING IS BELIEVING. Video-tape machine makes believers of speakers when they see their poise or lack of poise flashed on a screen. Equipment is examined by mechanically interested males, Mark Moreau, Forrest Ray, Wesley Castaneda, Larry McClellan, and Roger Allen

Each year members enter the National Spanish contests for those who have had previous experience with the language and those who are taking it for the first time.

This year two persons from Mexico had active roles as students. Charles Smith, Mexico City, spoke only a few words of English when he enrolled in regular classes. Friends made in Spanish Club helped Charles read his other textbooks and gain basic knowledge of English. Another visitor, a graduate engineer, audited Spanish II class in reverse to gain knowledge of English.

These help bring first year science students to grips with the realities of the world in which they are studying.

Each year Mr. Buel Garvin's Biology Club makes special field trips as well, usually on a weekend. These may include a visit to the Eagle-Picher Copper Mine, or an archeological and plant inspection tour of Devil's Canyon on the North Fork of Red River, or 'digs' along the banks of Red River tributaries. Other meetings simply may be utilization in new ways of the scientific equipment available as a result of both the National Defense Education Act (NDEA) programs and the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

BIOLOGY CLUB

Students understand, acquire scientific experience

Biology Club membership opens whole new horizons of microscopic and macroscopic experience in a real world of science in daily life. Field trips help students gain opportunities through observation and exploration both as individuals and as groups. Club meetings give students a chance to learn from different speakers, and to make contacts with the scientific community. Many active members of the past have become doctors and biochemists.

Feminine support encourages Bulldogs on to state

Bubbling cries and rousing cheers of the Pep Club help encourage winning streaks for AHS this year. Besides showing vitality and devotion at the games, members may be seen hanging posters and signs displaying school pep. They keep school and community spirit high as Bulldog teams fight for victory at gridiron, field-house, track, diamond and links.

VICTORY CHEER is led by Bulldog cheerleaders, Pam Toss, Georgia Whiteside, Jeannie Bennett, Susie Roberts, Jill Freeman, Jan Starr, Linda Young, and Kim Pegu gnot.

Cooperation, participation are keys to progress

EVEN an advisor's role can have its lighter moments, as evidenced by Mr. Jerry Doyle, principal Rusty Tahsuda, Jr. listens attentively

Student participation in government, promotion of good citizenship and co-operation between students and faculty are the purposes of the AHS student council. Members, elected in May, must have a grade average of at least 2.8, must participate in extracurricular activities, be in good standing with the school, and must have attended Altus schools the preceding semester. The president of each class, elected in the fall, is included as a council member. Any group or organization with requests or a petition concerning their affairs should submit them to their council members for consideration. Any legislation may be vetoed by the principal. Working closely with Mr. Jerry Doyle, advisor, the council has sponsored a student handbook and suggested candidates for the DAR Good Citizen Award. Copies of both the student handbook and student council constitution are available.

HAND RAISED to catch Mr. Jerry Doyle's attention, Mike Smith prepares to propose an amendment at an early morning meeting of the full council. Clockwise, council members are Bobby McMahan, Scott Whiteside, Gayla Hill, Mark Snell, Steve Adams, Rusty Tahsuda, Mr. Jerry Doyle, Dwight Starr, Jan Mahan, Jill Click, Mike Smith, Ben Bob Mahan, and Doug Jones

CONTENT of the student handbook was planned in August. Mr. Jerry Doyle, Dwight Starr, Jan Mahan, Jill Click, and Mike Smith discuss possible additions.

COLLAR article reminds council members Bobby McMahan, Rusty Tahsude, and Ben Bob Mahan of previous activities as they "clue in" their incoming co-sponsor, Mr. Roy Risner.

ELECTION of officers by members of the council at the first meeting of the year placed Scott Whiteside as vice-president, Mark Snell as president, and Jill Click as secretary-treasurer.

ASSISTANTS

Volunteers give daily hours to school functions

Volunteer assistants are students who help teachers of classes in which they have excelled in previous years. Some students become so interested in this work that they make a career in that particular field. Office assistants enjoy secretarial and receptionist jobs as well as working with people. Students report that going through the course a second time gives them a wider knowledge of a particular field. It also gives them a chance to use the knowledge they have acquired in first year study.

BROCHURES of work in their particular fields are examined by Marilyn Smith, Spanish assistant, and Jane Riggs, home ec. assistant.

COMMERCIAL SEWING

Vocational Sewing classes develop professional skills

Vocational commercial sewing is in its second year as one of two such courses in Oklahoma. Under the Gainful Occupation phase of Home Economics, commercial sewing is a part of the Vocational Education Act. Girls finishing this two-year course are prepared to work as alterations experts, custom dressmakers, and in textile industries using power machinery.

Career opportunities await vocational graduates

Newest department at AHS is child care. Started in September girls enrolled in these classes attend school one-half day on the main campus and the remainder at the Learning Center. Beginning the second six weeks they worked with four and five year olds during laboratory sessions. Later they learned correct methods of working with the aged preparing themselves for opportunities in convalescent homes.

FHA

Homemaker careers attract record co-ed enrollment

Second year after their reorganization found the AHS Chapter of Future Homemakers of America engaged in year-long activities. Early in the term they attended two district meetings and were host for a meeting with a sister organization, Eldorado. Christmas dinner was provided for a needy family by FHA.

NEW MATERIALS for this year are viewed by the officers. They are Reta Curtis, treasurer; Sandra Bates, secretary; Glyna Merple, president; Patti Booker, vice president; and Cheryl Thornton, recreation. Standing are Carla Dempsey, reporter; Gayle Smith, photographer; and Nita Stepp, parliamentarian. Not pictured are Benita Elliott, song leader, and Martha Howard, historian.

Students enrolled in Distributive Education gain valuable experience which may play a big part in future decisions. Enrollees may elect a career in business administration as a result of their DE job experience. If they should choose another field, DE has taught them responsibility, punctuality, and willingness to see a job done well which are necessary traits for success in any career. DECA sponsors numerous fund-raising activities throughout the term. Sale of calendars and candy finance the Employee-Employer banquet. Community and state publicity is given to DECA in recognition of its annual participation in the United Fund Drive

Auto mechanics students attain technical skills

Auto mechanics students check into their class-laboratory sessions in the same manner as if they were skilled mechanics in an ultra-modern auto agency. Mr. Ray Vinyard, instructor, spent years in the automobile repair business before becoming a teacher. Student names are posted on the bulletin board work assignment list in the form used by full time automobile service departments. Work assignments are serious. Automobiles are repaired at minimum costs for other students, faculty members and the general public. Although the department is only two and one-half years old, graduates already are working as full time mechanics or attending advanced technical schools in the field.

DOWNTOWN SUPPLY list is issued to Felix Martinez by Mr. Ray Vinyard, auto mechanics instructor

NYC OFFICERS Randel Hawkins, vice president, Joe Richards, president, and Janice Willis, sec., prepare for the next NYC meeting.

BUSY at work in the Superintendent's office is Linda Nolan. Her bookkeeping job gives her a chance to gain valuable experience as well as financial aid. These opportunities are the result of the NYC.

PERSONALITIES

Combined speech-vocal assembly includes most phases of student life. Honored students including royalty, top athletes, scholars, and student officers participate in the wide range of activities open to everyone. In Altus High School with its multi-faceted opportunities it is the in thing to do.

FFA SWEETHEART

Queen represents FFA at state fair

Honoree of FFA Banquet, Fran Williams, Chapter Sweetheart represented Altus FFA at the State Fair Parade of Sweethearts as well as helped host district and regional meeting. Fran, the daughter and sister of FFA state and national champions, can judge livestock and grain as well as most agricultural experts.

PRIDE IN THE accomplishments of the FFA Judging Team Award is shared by Fran Williams 1969 Sweetheart and Rex Cole, chapter president

FFA SWEETHEARTS are active participants throughout year. Brenda Bryce and Diane Rinker assisted in registration for officers' leadership training workshop in December and were present at all important meetings of the chapter

ALTUS FFA members took great pride in stately beauty of their queen when she appeared in this gown at the Oklahoma State Fair

DECA QUEEN

Club president chosen queen

Deca III member, Beverly Patrom, is this year's queen. As club president she received the United Fund Outstanding contribution award. DECA's members collect contributions for the high school student body

QUEEN Beverly Patrom's business assignment is at a cosmetic salon. While still a student she demonstrates correct makeup and grooming

"DECA WISHES YOU a Merry Christmas" was the theme of the club's Christmas parade float. Beverly and her attendants were float's focal points

DECA ATTENDANTS Rosanne Smith, junior, and Sandy Brown, sophomore, were chosen to represent club on the basis of personality, neat grooming, and friendliness

Club royalty observes French customs, fashions

Jan Starr, French Club Queen of 1969, not only is adept at Francais parle, but is able to simulate many of the mannerisms. As scholarly as she is beautiful, Jan hopes to study in France some day.

BOTH Jan Starrs are depicted on this page. At right is the quietly regal French Club queen

CHEERLEADER Jan Starr vivaciously played a French cheerleader during a pre-game pep assembly

ATTENDENTS, Susan Hambrick and Robbie Parker, find French Club the fun way to put vocabulary into practice. As part of the honored court they work on numerous committees.

REINA ESPAÑOLA

Poise, charm are queenly qualities

Coronation of Spanish Club queen is a gala event in which all members of the club participate. Mexican motif usually predominates and original skits and songs honor the court. Queen Patty Castle who speaks Spanish fluently dressed in Latin American mode.

MUY BONITA is translated very beautiful. Patty Castle's club members voted her "muy Bonita"

SPANISH CLUB queen Patty Castle, adjusts "The Last Fight of Manolito" by Barnaby Conrad, before club meeting

ALSO HONORED by their fellow club members are the runner-ups who become attendants for the queen at the coronation. Nancy Craven and Cindy Jones assist in club events throughout the year

HOMECOMING QUEEN

Bulldogs crown hearty supporter

Homecoming Queen Jill Click has urged Altus teams to victory as a cheerleader since her junior high years. Jill's position as forward for the Altus Lassies Basketball Team has taught her the value of such support.

GOVERNOR of Girls' State, Jill Click was a delegate to 1968 Girl's Nation.

FOOTBALL CAPTAIN, Marvin Hyde, crowned Jill on a windy October Friday night

HOMECOMING attendants Nita Stepp, pep club member, and Jeanne Bennett, cheerleader also build school spirit as members of COLLAR staff

VOCAL QUEEN

Ann Abernethy choral honoree

Varsity Choir's choice of Ann Abernethy as vocal queen was based on musical ability as well as friendliness and cooperation. Ann is a second soprano member and secretary of Honor Choir and was Molly in the all-school production, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" last December.

DANCER-VOCALIST Ann Abernethy personifies Varsity Choir's versatile membership

DRESSING ROOM visit with Mrs. Jayne Jayroe Peterson, was high point for Vocal Queen Ann Abernethy when the former Miss America was guest soloist with the choir

VOCAL QUEEN ATTENDANTS, Jennie Buchanan and Mary Jeanne Fancher, are both musicians and vocalists. Both play flute and piano

VOCAL KING

Choir membership chooses Chapman

Varsity Choir member for three years and active in glee club during junior high, Vocal King Rusty Chapman also is the choir president. He was the male lead, Johnny "Leadville" Brown in the all-school production, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

BULLDOG FOOTBALL players such as Rusty Chapman frequently also are featured vocalists at Altus High. Rusty was the male lead in the production.

FORLORN Johnny "Leadville" Brown waits for the return of Molly in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

VOCAL KING Runner-Ups Mike Cummings and Cecil Brewer, both choir members, frequently appear as soloists.

SENIOR CHOICES

Class of 1969 selects present, future leaders.

Outstanding personalities with a combination of talents earned titles of "Most Likely to Succeed," "Best Athlete," and "Most Talented," on school and community projects. Concentration and dedication to books, music and sports over long periods of time were recognized by seniors in making these choices. All have won district, regional, and state honors and four have won national awards.

BEST ATHLETES Marvin Hyde and Jill Click stand before the Bulldog which has watched their victorious sportsmanship during their high school years.

MOST LIKELY TO SUCCEED Nancy Craven and Scott Whiteside exchange ideas about colleges which offer the most educational opportunities.

MOST TALENTED SENIORS Rusty Chapman and Ann Abernethy reminisce scenes of the musicals in which they had leads.

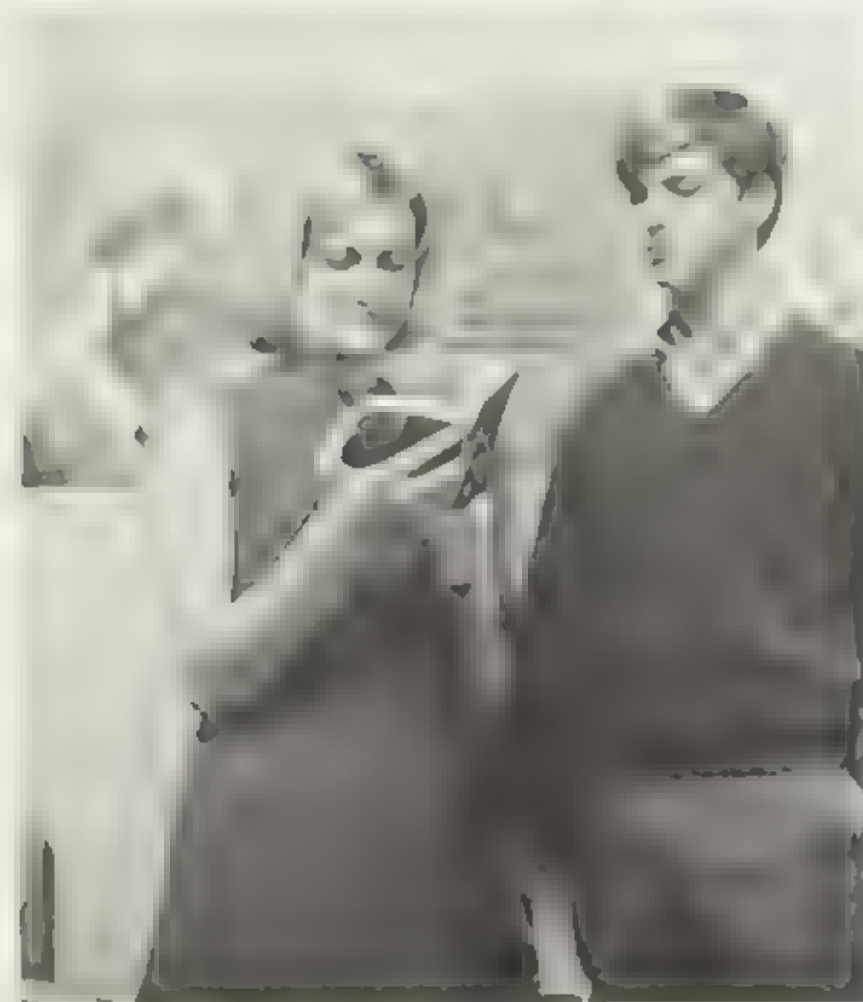

BEST ALL AROUND

Classes recognize student awareness, cooperation.

Wide interests in all categories of community and school earned the title of "Best All Around" for these students at each grade level. Extra-curricular activities and scholastic achievement form a daily part of their lives. Their highschool records exemplify All Around active participation. Each holds membership in academic clubs, and all have previously received special recognition from their classmates in grade school, as well as junior and senior high school.

BEST ALL AROUND seniors Jeanne Bennett and Bruce Pollock were honored for their friendly, outgoing personalities and their interest in all facets of school life

JUNIOR BEST ALL AROUNDS Bobby McMahon and Gayle Hill exemplify characteristics of their honor through their high scholastic record and enthusiastic participation in activities. BEST ALL AROUND SOPHOMORES Pat Roberts and Ben Bob Mahan were selected for their genuine friendliness, and active interests in school academics and extra-curricular events

Scholarship, wide interests are honor selection basis

Citizenship, thoughtfulness, and years of loyal work with faculty and classmates were qualities considered in casting votes for Best Citizen. These students have wide interests in all facets of school, church, and community life. Following the rules of modern sociology is a part of their integral personalities.

Qualities considered by juniors for BEST CITIZEN were found in Rusty Tashuda, Jan Starr, and Terry Tims. SOPHOMORE BEST CITIZENS, Danny Gregg, Shari Gober, and Georgia Whiteside set their goals for the future to remain loyal and thoughtful

SENIOR BEST CITIZENS, Becky Edmiston, Fran Williams, and Mark Snell exemplify model behavior as they set an example for underclassmen

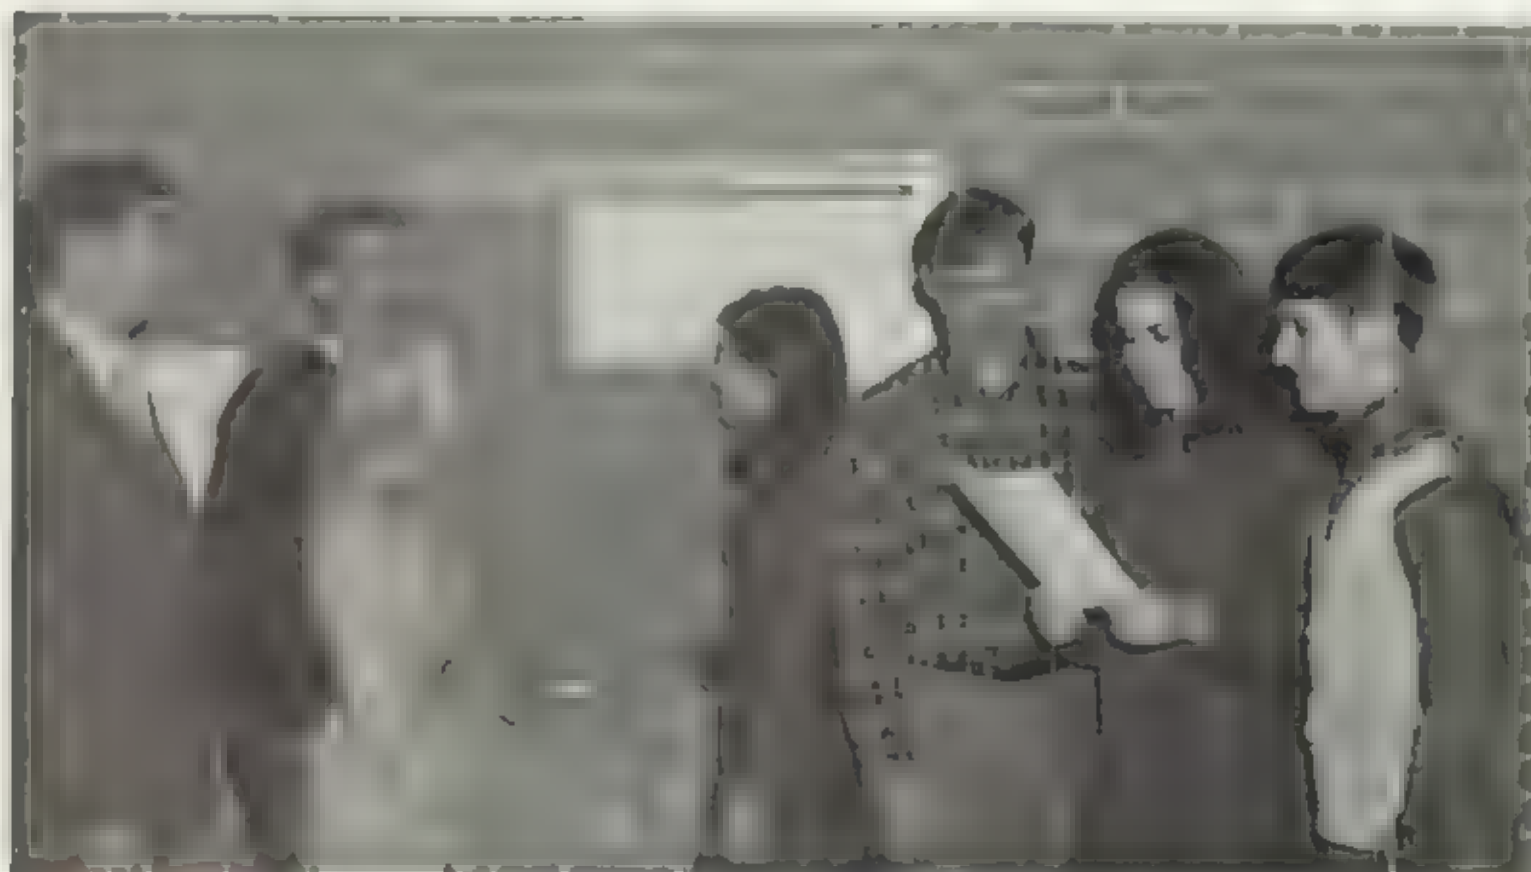

All-state groups select AHS vocal, band students

ALL STATE BAND alternate Rick Foster demonstrates drum roll to Mr. Richard Morales, first semester practice teacher, and Mr. Jeff Daughten, director of "That Altus Band"

Three times during the preparation of the Altus Bulldog special pages are reserved for high honors won by the student body. One of these is in the opening 16 pages of the book, and includes first-of-the-year awards. This and the following six pages are an attempt to cover major awards at midyear. In the summer supplement, published following graduation, will be an additional honors section featuring, in particular, major scholarships and annual awards made to seniors in various categories. Probably in no other manner can the multi-facets of an Altus High School education be illustrated so vividly.

VOCAL DELEGATES to All State Convention, Rusty Chapman, bass, Mike Cummings, tenor, Kathy Herring, soprano, Jesna Ann Freeman, second soprano, David Frano, bass, Mary Jeanne Fancher, soprano, and Ceci Brewer, tenor, locate names on all state roll

Achievements run full activity, scholastic gamut

BULLDOG football players chosen for the All-District 1-AA team are Mike Ray, Charles Cooper, George Ford, Marvin Hyde, Scott Whiteside, and Rusty Chapman. District coaches and sports writers base the selections on seasonal performance.

RECORDS show that AHS students repeatedly score in the top national percentiles on achievement tests. Top two percent scorers on the ACT test, Scott Whiteside, Charles Cooper, and Nancy Craven glance through catalogues of their chosen colleges.

OKLAHOMA DAR GOOD CITIZEN, Mary Jeanne Fancher, accompanied the Varsity Choir and guest artist Jayne Jayroe for the choir's fall concert, "I Hear America Singing."

STUDENTS placing in the top five percent on the PSAT test were Roger Duck, Lynn Goodwin, Jeanne Ann Freeman, and Donna Jones.

DELEGATE to National 4-H Convention held in Chicago, Mike Nicholas, checks last minute travel plans.

REGIONAL BAND participants are selected in auditions at Southwestern State College. Members from AHS are: FRONT ROW: Mike Etheridge, Larry Turner, Kitle Ray Moberly, Zoe Ann McPherson, Stephanie Maddox, Maria

Goodridge. SECOND ROW: Alan Chaney, Pat Phelan, Bob Mills, Roger Duck, et al. Avery, Daryl Selmon. BACK ROW: Rick Foster, Ross Longley, Kim Ward, Paul Batties, and Mr. Jeff Daughten, AHS director.

SCHOLARS

Senior class tops high school honor percentile

High scholastic achievement usually is attained by some ability plus much work and "burning the midnight oil," counselors believe. High school seniors achieve honor roll and top ten percent through all of these. Requirements for reaching honor roll status are taking at least four solid courses, making nine points with four solids, and making eleven with five solids. Rules for making Top Ten Percent are even more demanding. Students grade points must be in the top ten percent of their class.

Juniors have second chance for better transcripts.

Second year in high school determines the future opportunities for many students. Even though grades may have been poor as freshmen or sophomores scholarship committees and admission offices look with favor upon the student who suddenly pulls his grade to a high level. If they continue on this level during their senior year, guidance officials predict college admission will be a reality.

First year scholars achieve early recognition

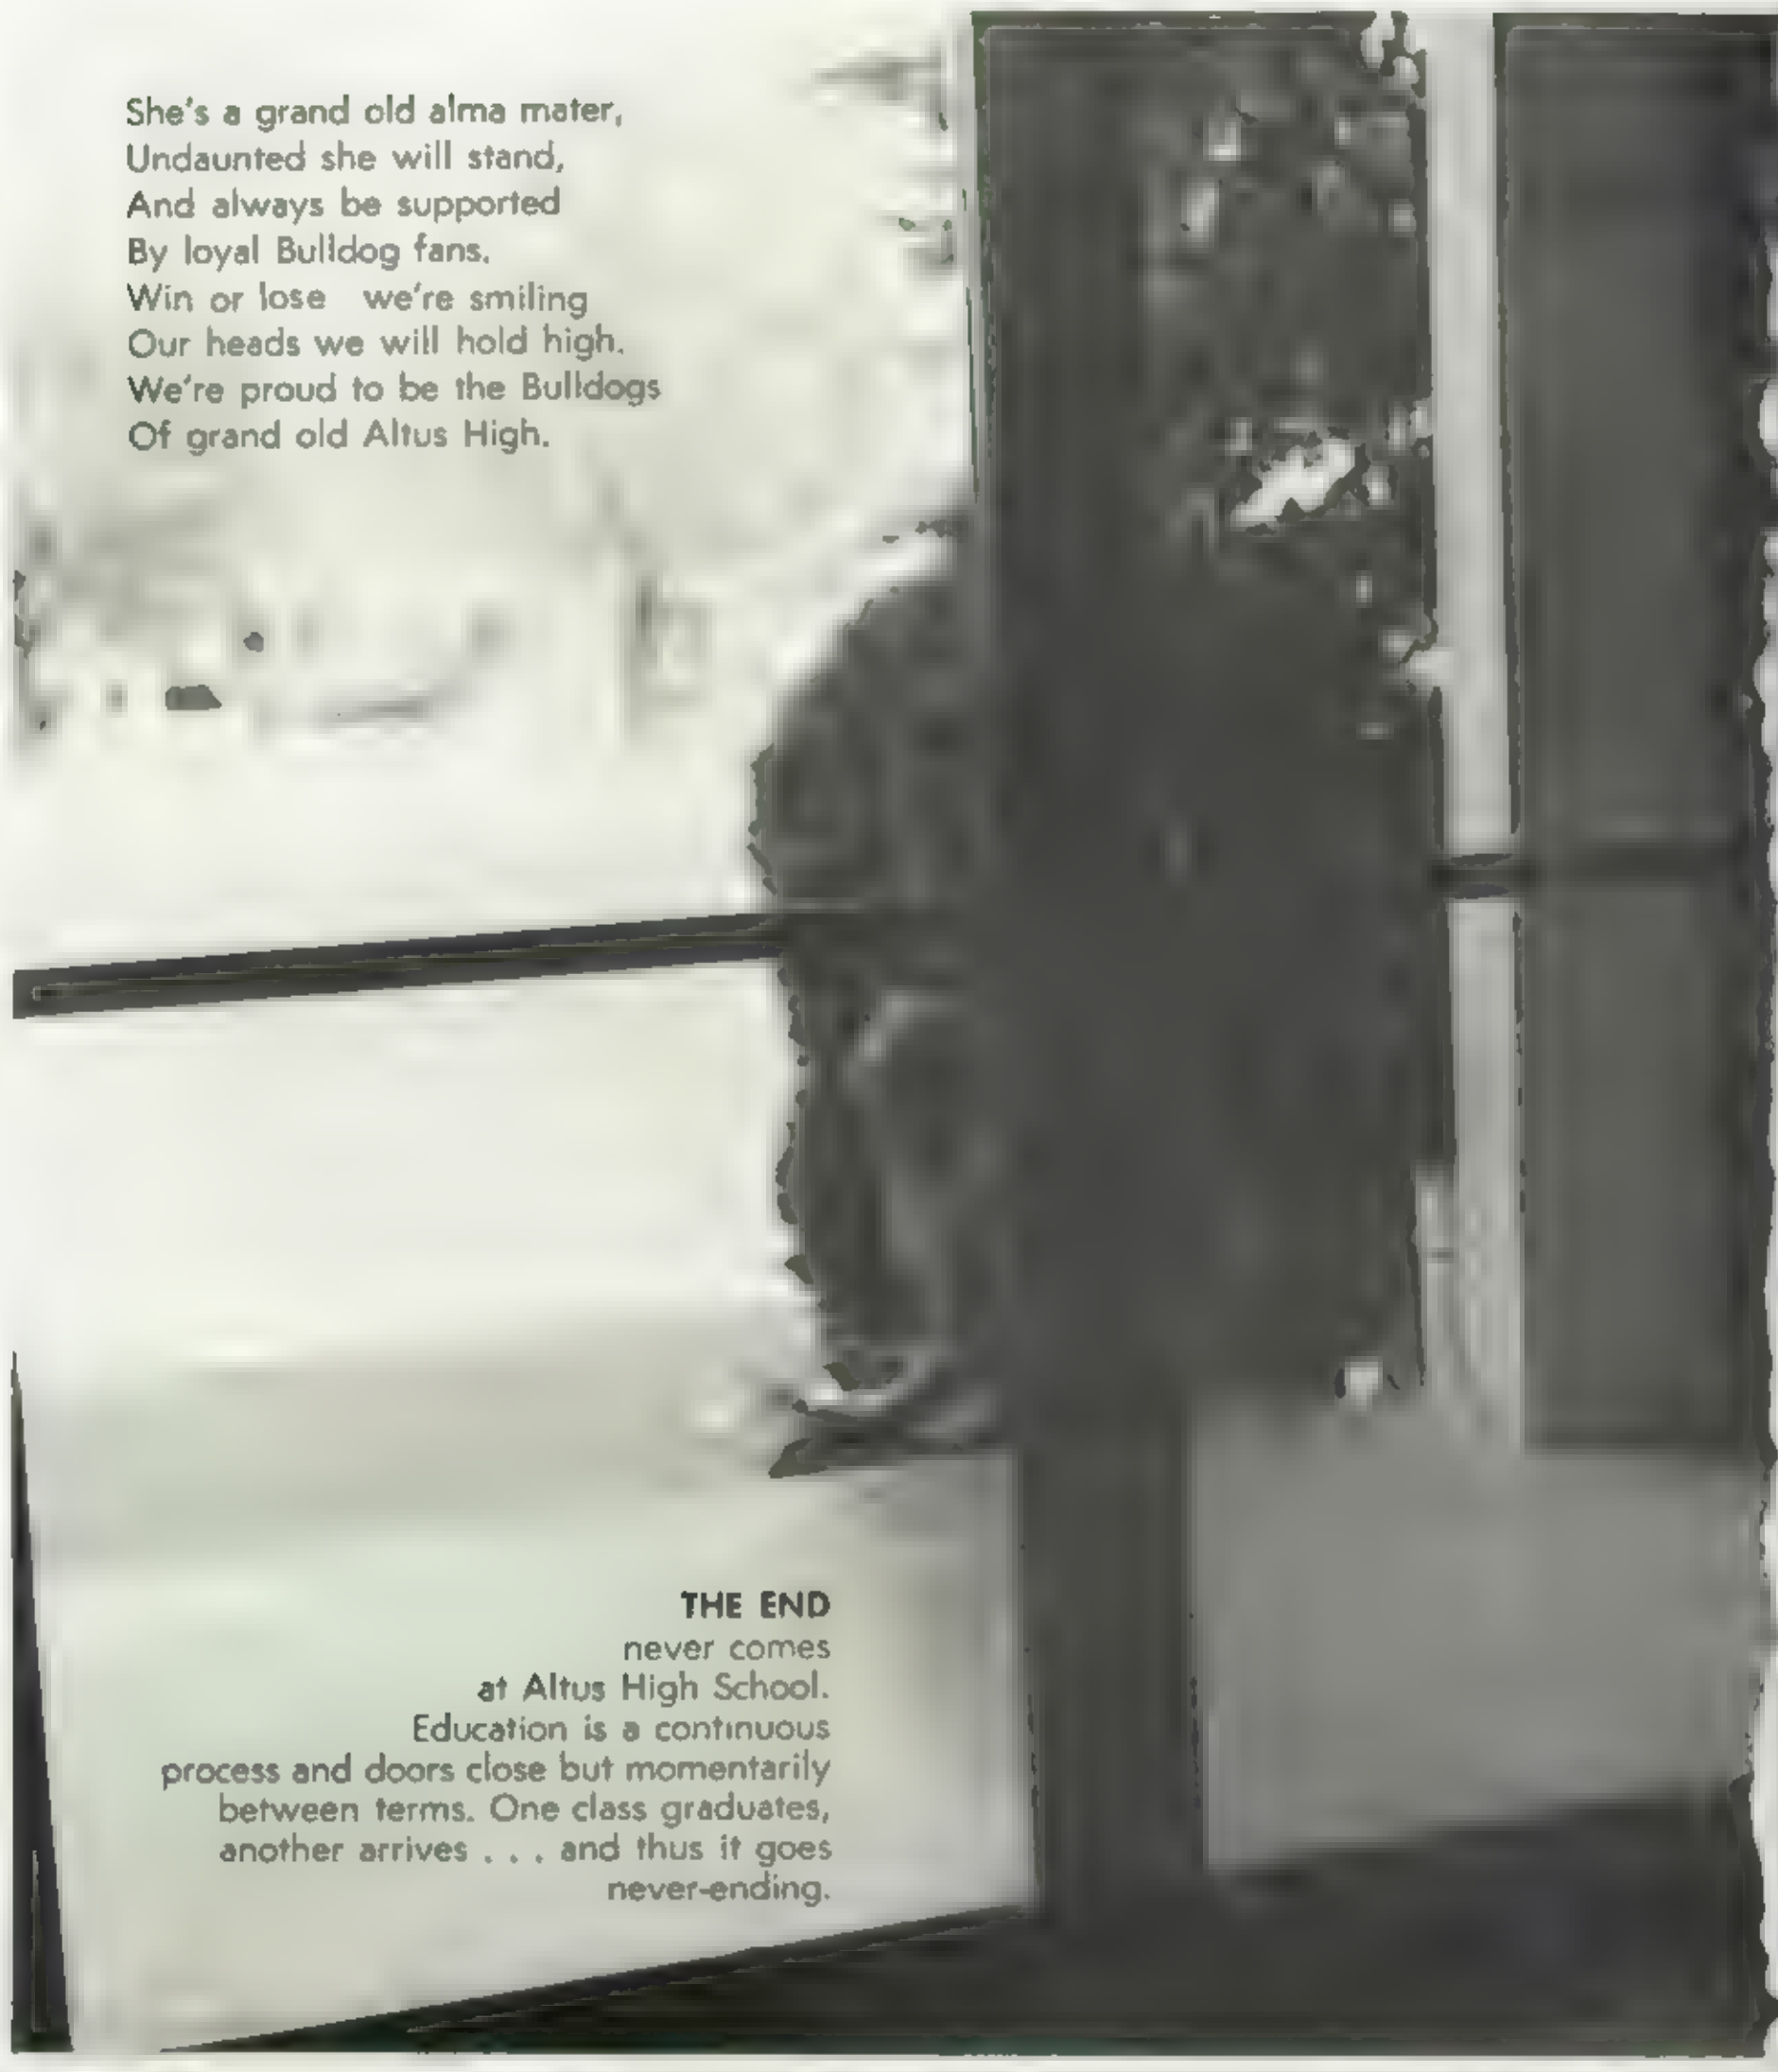

Classes merge from the three junior highs to form one body of puzzled newcomers. Once in the swing of things, sophomores usually find classwork follows the usual pattern. Past hard workers emerge again and are joined by those who have decided to act now. Their new enthusiasm gains high honors. These sophomores are setting records now for future junior and senior top ten percent.

She's a grand old alma mater,
Undaunted she will stand,
And always be supported
By loyal Bulldog fans.
Win or lose we're smiling
Our heads we will hold high.
We're proud to be the Bulldogs
Of grand old Altus High.

THE END

never comes in the day but in it was a lot of this year, but it will be working the series of growth year and I want to a lot of guy and I want to the next year, but I want to the next year, but I want to

Dear Mary

Just think of how much I have written you last year & how much I have written you this morning. The chance I give in a letter with a good looking girl like me!

So, I want you to be a little bit plunk around. I want to see you again in the next week & I want you just what you
next year!

Just think of how much I have in the next year & how much I have in the next year. I want you to be a little bit plunk around. I want to see you again in
next year!

NEW SENIORS take advantage of casual dress code during Senior Week. Sam Anderson, James Barnes, Patricia Carlisle and James Mitchell look over graduation candid photos.

NEW STUDENTS

Altus High arrivals represent world-wide areas

One of the constantly growing facets of Altus High is the roster of students. During the school year just concluded more than 100 new students were added out of a total of 856. Forty-six percent of the student body, including sophomores, had never attended school here. As a result, newcomers of a year or so earlier help latest newcomers become acquainted. Pictured in the groups on this page are new students who arrived after all yearbook picture deadlines were closed. Most of these are dependents of Altus Air Force Base who were received from all parts of the world from Okinawa to Germany, Alaska to Florida.

ALTHOUGH THESE two seniors, DeAnna Harder and Johnny Hill had their pictures made before the deadline, they were inadvertently left out of the Senior Section.

A-CLUB

All Sports Association, A-Club honor team members

Students who letter in one or more sports automatically become eligible for membership in A-Club. Members include lettermen in football, basketball, girls basketball, track, wrestling, and baseball. Supported by the coaching staff, A Club sponsor is the athletic director, Mr. Bill Starr, who becomes AHS principal next year, has sponsored the club for the past four years. Next year Coach Bob Wenk becomes athletic director and will be sponsor. Community support comes from All Sports Association members, men and women who are ready to assist wherever needed in the physical fitness program.

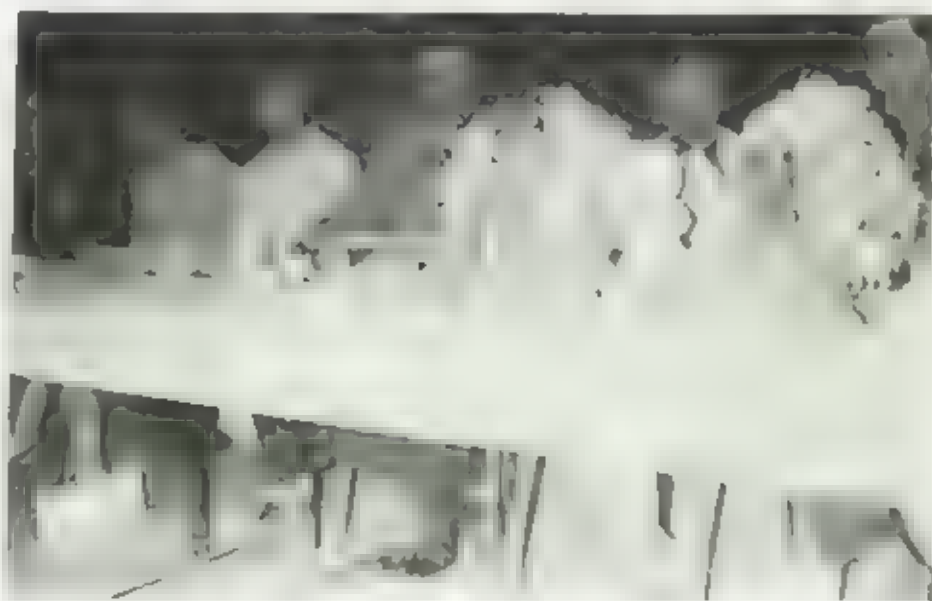

ALL SPORTS BANQUET honored A-Club members and Coach Chuck Fairbanks of OU. Mr. James Starr, All Sports president, was emcee. Scott Whiteside, A-Club president, right, was student emcee.

HONOR AWARD time with Marvin Hyde, George Ford and Rusty Chapman flanked by Mr. James Starr reading the citations.

HUNGRY BULLDOGS were served delicious helpings, too. In foreground backs to camera, are Kyle Davis, Jerry Tabb, with Bobby Oakley at right

BASEBALL

District champion Bulldogs earn state honors

Altus High continued its claim as one of the nation's baseball capitals, ending its regular season with 18 wins and 6 losses, and continuing with a conference and regional championship. It wasn't the Bulldogs day at the State meet, with a 250 mile drive to the tournament site at Cushing. Outstanding memories of the season include beating Lawton High and Clinton in major upsets and coming through again and again with the needed play when the chips were down. It was an exciting season, and attendance both of students and community fans doubled by the end of the schedule.

TENSE MOMENT for first baseman Chris Kastner as he waits for throw, and runner races for bag

BULLDOG OUTFIELDER Doug Jones shows championship form as he slaps a base hit

LAST TRIP of the year, and Coach Gary Coffey, left, and Head Coach Ray Tahsuda, foreground, oversee equipment loading for state tournament use

BULLDOG PITCHING form, John Reid style, helped add up victories, as did the stellar pitching also of Randy Muse

Bulldogs Win Regional; State Runner-Up Champions

Bulldog Field and Track event fans will not be surprised if the 1972 United States Olympic Team has one or more members from Altus. Coach Bob Hart's Bulldogs never placed under second, and brought home six major championships including the Guymon, Southwestern State, South Central and Southwest Conference, Regional Championship and were runners-up at the State. Randall Hawkins won the 100 and 220 at state, and was a team member of the champion 440 and mile relay teams. Hugh Bardsley placed third in state with his long jump. Less than 30 points separated the Bulldogs from the State Championship.

CONTROLLED RUNNING like this enabled Randall Hawkins to win consistently, and earned him the sports' writer title "fastest school boy in Oklahoma."

Allen, Terry Wilson, George Ford, Mark Weber, Rick Moss, Kyle Davis, Ronnie Fields, Randa Hawkins, James Beavers and Coach Bob Hart.

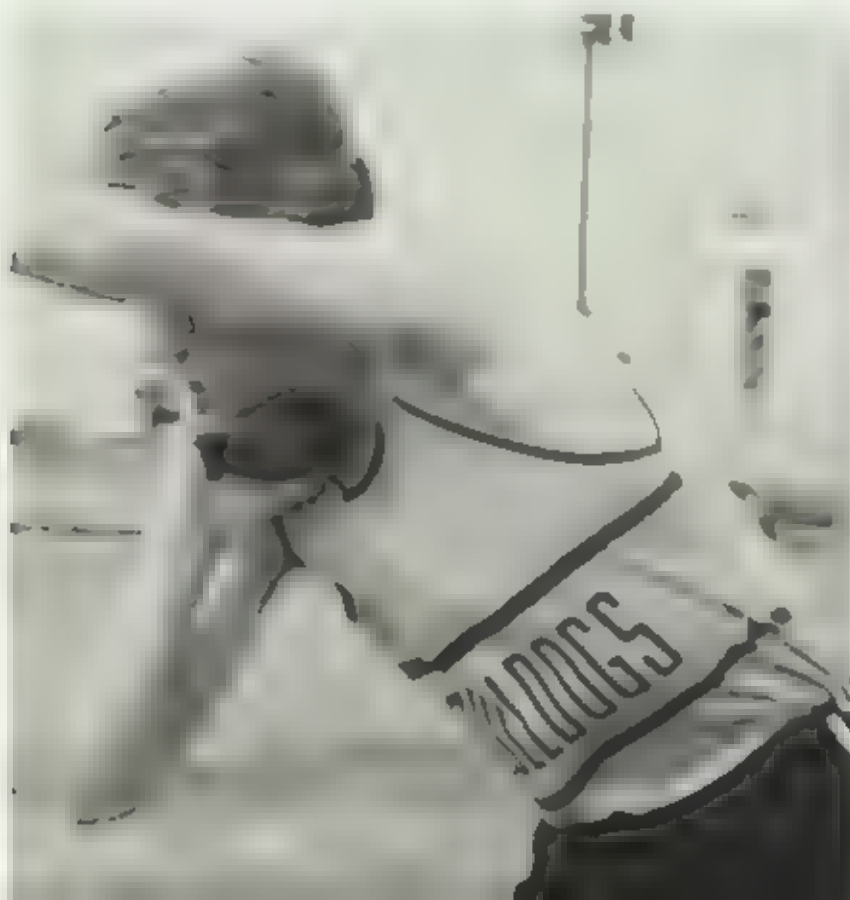

HIGH HURDLES were extra high at Altus Short Grass Relays because of a gale like wind. Kyle Davis jumps to the Bulldogs.

Bulldog linksmen win tournaments, conference crown

Probably no sport receives as little boosting from spectators, and as much quietly dedicated practice for perfection as that of high school golf. Altus Bulldog team spent each afternoon beginning with sixth hour on the practice Country Club course, and often practiced extra hours on their own on weekends. Coach Art Young has coached teams to regional and state championships here for many years. This year marked championship of the Southwest Conference, one of the state's most hotly contested.

Juniors beat astronauts to moon during banquet

DISTANCE FROM moon landing to Cape Altus on home planet is given unknowing seniors as they enter between helpful space road signs

Call it the luck of the juniors, or the year just about everybody at Altus High does everything right. Space theme of the Junior-Senior banquet, selected long before, coincided with the weekend of the Apollo 10 flight. Resemblance probably ended there but spacemen table favors, juniors in the role of seniors landing on the moon and out-of-this-world moonian costumes and scenery made the evening memorable.

SPACE SHIPS as well as plane are ordered to Cuba it seems. Space Pilot Loyal Doyle (Kyle Davis) is ordered to turn his ship around by prankster Doug Smith

FINAL MOMENTS of the program found cast members on stage singing their loyalty to U.S. and the High School. Visible vocalists are Jan Starr, Jeananne Freeman, Ardrian Griggs, Marty Roberson, Paula Mascham, Larry King, Terry Roudebush, Lonnie Palmer, Teresa Greer

HONORS

State, regional, national honors mark '69 term

THREE COEDS, all seniors captured national attention. Mary Jeanne Fancher, left, became DAR National Good Citizen. Jill Click, center, Girls' State Governor. Ann Abernathy, Oklahoma Junior Miss, became seventh place national finalist.

CELEBRITIES congratulate Jennie Buchanan, at Student Press meeting. McMahon journalism winner OU Journalism Director Joe Holland is in center, Col. Joseph Murphy, New York, Columbia Scholastic Press Association director is at right.

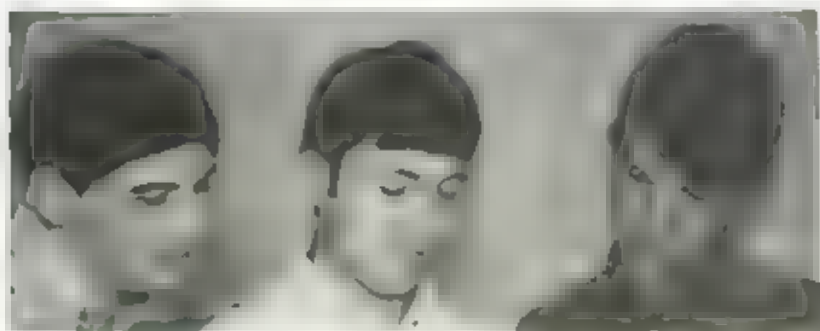

SWEEPSTAKES at state vocal contests are getting to be a habit with choral groups coached by Director Kenneth Cox, who holds latest trophy.

MITCH WINDLE TROPHY to year's outstanding athlete is awarded David Richards by Athletic Director Bill Starr.

YEAR OF THE BAND is dramatically shown by table of trophies including state sweepstakes and Corpus Christi first place. Background coeds are Pam Avery, Roxanne Smith, Pam Oglesby and Debra Ingram.

THESE STUDENTS won trophies in various contests.

GRADUATION

Seniors celebrate special week, become alumni

Two hundred sixty-four seniors received diplomas May 23 at 8 p.m. graduation in Cletus Street Field House. It was an all-time record number of graduates, and more than 3000 persons saw the ceremonies, another record for an indoor audience. Varsity Senior choir sang, the 1969-70 band made its first appearance playing the processional and recessional, Nancy Craven, valedictorian; and Mary Reagan salutatorian spoke for the class. Cecil Brewer sang the traditional "May The Good Lord Bless and Keep You." Rusty Chapman gave the benediction. Diplomas were issued, seniors became alumni.

TAKING ONE last look Linda Bishop views the entrance on cap and gown day. Bulldog blue academic robes and caps were worn for the first time

TUESDAY of Senior Week was rehearsal period for graduation. Informally clad class members sit on gym floor and listen to graduation marshalling instructions from Mr. Art Young.

BACCALAUREATE was held at church of each student's choice. Six denominations united for service at Prince of Peace Church, at 8 p.m. May 17. Academic caps required careful adjustment in high wind.

HIGHEST ACADEMIC honor at each year are the Royal Stagers. They are valedictorian and salutatorian and receive an trophy. Top ten seniors are listed below. Mary Reagan, salutatorian and Thomas Craven, valedictorian. They are followed by the Royal Stagers. The group includes: Mary Reagan, Thomas Craven, Mary Reagan, Thomas Craven, Mary Reagan, Thomas Craven, Mary Reagan, Thomas Craven, Mary Reagan, Thomas Craven. FAR LEFT Mr. Jack Colville, Board of Education member, talking to Nancy Craven and Mary Reagan.

Dear Scott,

Well can you believe anyone as stupid as me would stop to sign a wimp like your book. Oh well that's the surprise of the day. No really you're a great guy with a great sense of humor. You say the funniest things!
you and Battles make a great duo!!! Be good & we'll see you next year. Take care of ol' lady Culver for me. She's so intelligent.
Don't you hope we have Knight again next year? Best of luck always & may God Bless You!!
(Someone needs to!!!)

Love ya,
Cathy

Scott,
I "may" not be able to write poetry? like Paul, but I can write Big.
You've got a great personality, wit,
smartness, your lovable, handsome, charming.
- you're perfect!!
Good luck in the future. You'll do something big someday.

Scott,
To a stud guy with a lot of brains. Have had lots of fun with you in Sec. & Bio. Hope for more fun next year. Lots of Luck.
